

Living Bread Missions

Responding to the Great Commission to Go, Preach, Teach and Disciple the Nations (Matthew 28:19-20). We hasten the Lord's coming by Reaching the Unreached and Training the Church.

Going Deeper & Wider With Discipleship

1. Youth Camp 2019.

So much gain was made by the Youth Camp as the leadership really focused on how to deepen commitment and loyalty to divine purposes. David's exemplary life, sacrifices, endurance, and willingness to go all the way as a great fighter, ruler and excellent leader was showcased through the teaching series. The younger generation was encouraged and challenged to be productive through entrepreneurship and effective professional choices so that they can be bold witnesses to the Gospel in the marketplace - and not just 'complaining pew warmers'. Great efforts were put into evangelistic outreaches during the camp time - during the day and souls won through the Gospel shared with the community in Ho.

2. Get To The Roots Graduation.

The last training session for equipping Children's Teachers in the Garu area of Ghana has been completed and the teachers were graduated and certificated to carry out this life-changing ministry. We trust that in the classrooms, communities parks, homes and in the Church, more unreached children have the opportunity to hear the Gospel before they are infected with dangerous viruses of social vice and corruption in high places. Thanks to the collaboration with CEF and other related facilitators.

In Garu, teachers received their final preparation for outreach.

3. Missions Convention.

The theme for the Convention was “Work As Mission.” Participants from Togo and Ghana churches were challenged, “the Church of Christ is more effective and missional when it operates through men and women in various workplaces every single day of the week.” It was understood that more Christians sharing their faith and sowing the Gospel seed brings in more harvest than a specialized few dropping some seeds sometimes. The call was clear: “we must all engage the world, especially the large populations who don’t come to the four walls of the Church; let us meet them where they are available - in the marketplace.” Testimonies were shared by speakers and practitioners of marketplace ministry in the classrooms, hospital wards, lecture and banking halls, and through journalism (plus other professions). Conversions of specialized groups have been reported, healing and deliverances recorded, young hearts impacted and lives transformed on the quiet - heaven holds the records. Sampson reported on and reviewed the LBM Vision: Training, Outreach and Churchplanting cum community development. “Each individual believer should be a carrier of God’s Grand Agenda of reconciling the world to Himself,” he insists.

4. Commissioning and Ordination.

As we endeavor to carry out the Great Commission, there is need to be strategic in placement of missions workers. The Living Bread Missions has sent forth Isaac & Beatrice Adu-Nyarko to the Bono region to spearhead work that strategically reaches the unreached people of Ghana. In the same vein, Clement and Janet Ankrah have been released to function in their teaching ministry and be more effective in the workplace ministry whilst exploring other options for missions.

Right: Isaac and Beatrice Adu-Nyarko have been sent out to the Bono region. Left: Clement and Janet Ankrah were ordained on the same occasion.
